ELLER COLLEGE OF MANAGEMENT THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA FALL 2019

Dear Alumni and Friends of the Department,

It is with great pride that I present this year's edition of the Footnotes Newsletter. Our faculty continue to thrive in their research and teaching, and our students are excelling in all areas of their academic and professional development. Serving as the director of the School of Accountancy is a great honor given all that we have been able to accomplish.

We established the School of Accountancy Advisory Board this year and held our first meeting in September. The Board will provide advice and guidance to our School in the areas of curriculum, resource planning, brand awareness, alumni engagement and long-range planning. Our board members bring diverse experiences and incredible industry knowledge, and we are grateful for their willingness to serve.

We also held the inaugural School of Accountancy alumni reunion this fall, and the turnout was incredible! If you could not make this year's event, our next reunion will be in 2024.

You will read about numerous faculty and student achievements throughout the newsletter as well as an update on our programs. While we did not add any new faculty this year, we would like to honor the long-time contributions of Leslie Cohen and Christine Borowec who retired last year. Leslie taught more than 17,000 students since joining us in 1995, and Christine taught more than 3,000 since 2005. They will be missed!

We continue to raise funds to name the School of Accountancy after Professor Dan Dhaliwal. Although we still have work to meet our goal, great progress was made in the last year. Thanks to all of you who have supported this initiative.

Our success would not be possible without the generous gifts of time, talent and treasure shared by you, our alumni and friends. Thank you for all you do!

Regards,

Jeff Schatzberg
Director, School of Accountancy
 Lou Myers Professor of Accounting

Kathryn Chavez, program coordinator for the School of Accountancy, was awarded the 2019 Eller Staff Award for Excellence and the Marion Levy Award. These awards recognize a faculty member who consistently performs above and beyond their expectations of duties. In September, Kathryn accepted a position as senior program coordinator with the School of Information in the College of Social and Behavioral Sciences. We are grateful for the amazing work Kathryn did and wish her the best in her new position.

Katharine Drake, associate professor of accounting, was awarded the Arizona CPA Foundation for Education and Innovation Excellence in Teaching Award for 2019. We congratulate Katharine for this remarkable award as it considered accounting faculty from all universities in Arizona, including Arizona State University and Northern Arizona University. This is the third year in a row that a professor from Eller's School of Accountancy has won the award—quite an accomplishment for our program!

This past year, Katie Maxwell, senior lecturer and associate director of the School of Accountancy, was recognized as the Tucson 2018 Evening MBA Most Valuable Professor.

This year, the Eller College Dean's Council presented Nancy Meech, career coach for accounting majors, with the Outstanding Advisor/Career Coach Award. The award recognizes an advisor or coach who demonstrates passion and dedication to helping students achieve their goals.

Karen Otto, senior lecturer in accounting, was selected as the Outstanding Accounting Faculty by the Undergraduate Eller College Dean's Council. This award, based on undergraduate student nominations, recognizes an instructor in the School of Accountancy who shows dedication to their students and cultivates success in the classroom.

Rob Stussie, lecturer in accounting, was awarded the Judi Prize by the School of Accountancy for his teaching excellence and dedication to his students. Undergraduate Program Updates

We continue to focus on promoting the accounting major to pre-business students through outreach programs, the Accounting Student Association and special career awareness events. Almost 20 percent of our undergraduate accounting majors are completing a second Eller College major, with the majority of those focusing in MIS. In addition, we are pleased with the diversity of our student population, as 25 percent of undergraduate accounting majors are underrepresented minorities. Core curriculum offerings remain the same as prior years although we are planning on implementing new projects and assignments requiring students to utilize data analytics and software applications critical in the workplace today.

Master's Programs Updates

THE SCHOOL OF ACCOUNTANCY provides four programs for students who are interested in pursuing advanced accounting education. Students in the MAcc program complete either an audit or tax track. The Master of Science in Accounting (MSA) program allows more flexibility in course selection for students that prefer more electives or for students who did not earn an undergraduate degree in accounting and need to complete prerequisites during their program. The MSA program is also available in a fully online format for working professionals and others requiring additional flexibility. New MSA dual degree programs have recently been approved with the following programs: MBA, MIS, Healthcare Management and Business Analytics. Dual degrees allow students to earn two master's degrees at the same time and expand their expertise beyond accounting. Lastly, the online Graduate Accounting Certificate program allows students to take 9-18 credit hours of accounting courses, primarily for those requiring additional units for CPA certification.

Spring 2019 Graduates

The MSA program is also available in a fully online format for working professionals and others requiring additional flexibility.

PhD Program Updates

The School of Accountancy is proud to recognize Aaron Roeschley and Ashley Sauciuc for successfully completing the PhD program in 2019. Aaron accepted an assistant professor position at the University of Kentucky and Ashley began her career as an assistant professor at Indiana University.

- The School would like to recognize Jacob Jaggi, PhD teaching assistant, who was awarded the Best Doctoral Student Paper Award at the 2019 Western Region Meeting for his dissertation, "The Coordination of Monitoring Between the Audit Committee and the Internal Audit Function." He received a $500 cash prize and was formally recognized at the meeting in April 2019.
- Jake Sigler, PhD student, was accepted by the PCAOB as an Economic Research Fellow. Sigler is researching two proposals and is collaborating with Preeti Choudhary, associate professor of accounting. His first proposal is to study the audit implication of the complexity of the issuer's technology (the number of systems and their types); his second proposal is to study component materiality, where he proposes to use a group audit model developed by Stewart & Kinney to calculate the "optimal" component materiality and examine the deviations from the theoretical optimal.
- This past November, PhD student Nuria Seijas attended the PhD Project Annual Conference in Chicago. Nuria was part of a team that included MIS Professor Gondy Leroy and PhD student Elena Wong, who represented the Eller College of Management at the conference. The PhD Project's mission is the advancement of workplace diversity through promoting diversity in business school faculty.
